The band pavilion will be ready then, and while an orchestra plays for the dancers, the band will proceed with the concert.—Washington, Pa., Reporter.

TRAIN No. 8 on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad now arrives in Wheeling twenty-five minutes earlier than formerly, in order to give eastern passengers an opportunity to make the Baltimore & Ohio connection. The train leaves Toledo the same time as formerly, but makes the run in less time. This is a short route from Toledo to the east.

THE tickets for the special fast train excursion from Wheeling through to Zoar and Myer's Lake next Sunday, via the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, were put on sale at the Elm Grove railroad ticket office yesterday, and the indications are that there will be a good crowd go, as the rates are low, and fast time, with no stops, will give almost the entire day at these pleasant resorts.

THE GRAND' OPENING.

The Theatre Completely Renovated—A Magnificent Company.

The season opened at the Grand Opera House last night, with Sherman & Morley's "A Jay Circus" as the attraction. Since last season the house has been completely renovated and all the scenery is new. The audience filled the house from pit to dome, and gave out in evidence of its appreciation of the performance, which was one of the finest of the kind ever witnessed in Wheeling, or anywhere else, for that matter.

The specialties are all of the best, and Mlle Delmore's serpentine dance is one of the most beautiful, weird and dazzling performances ever witnessed. Nothing approaching it was ever seen before. It would take a column adequately to describe the changing brilliant colors, pictures and patterns.

The finale, "A Jay Circus," is a lutely one of the loveliest things ever seen. The people are all capable and the show keeps the audience roaring. It will be given again this evening and Saturday afternoon and evening.

A VISIT TO ZOAR.

Capt. Crawford Returns Well Pleased With His Sojourn There.

Captain Richard Crawford, of North Wheeling, returned a day or two ago from a warm weather outing at Zoar, Ohio, and in conversation yesterday in regard to his trip he gave an INTELLIGENCER representative some interesting particulars in regard to the Zoar "community," as it is called. The present membership, numbering about 400, are the descendants of a colony of German religionists who settled there as far back as 1817, and who bought a small tract of land from the United States government at $1 25 per acre. They now own seven or eight thousand acres, and, in addition, they own the village of Zoar, and all its dwelling houses, shops, stores and factories, as well as the live stock and the machinery used in farming their lands. This land is fertile and valuable, and together with their other property represents a vast amount of wealth, all of which is held in common; that is, as a community, after the style of the Economites near Pittsburgh. While the Economites, however, have practically run out, as they did not marry, the Zoar people have gone on marrying and giving in marriage, the same as the outside world, and consequently are a strong community to-day.

They have not, however, conformed to the world in any other respect, but are still, as they style themselves, "separatists," and, as such, adhere to the plain and peaceful ways of their ancestral pioneers. Their religious services are still held in the German language, and consist of music and singing and addresses, but no prayers.

They have a hotel that accommodates any 150 guests, and the captain found about a hundred people there from various parts of the country. They furnish excellent entertainment at the modest price of seven dollars per week. The work of the hotel is done week about by the unmarried women of the community, and the management is excellent.

The community makes its own wine and beer, and both are sold to guests at the hotel. Altogether Zoar is a unique and attractive place, and the captain enjoys his periodical visits there very much.

He says that it comes nearer to realizing the ideas of Bellamy's book (Looking Backwards) and the plan of social life therein set forth than any programme with which he is acquainted, and is really calculated to make one believe that some such scheme may not, after all, be wholly impracticable. At all events, he thinks it is a good thing to have a few such communities scattered about through the country, as examples of what honest thrift and correct living can accomplish for the good of men and women.

entering womanhood ought to have just the special help that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give.

They need to be started right. The "Prescription" aids and promotes the proper functions, corrects the delicate weaknesses and derangements that might become chronic, establishes regularity and health, lessens pain.

They want a nourishing, supporting, strengthening tonic, such as an experienced physician has especially prepared for the female system, in the "Prescription."

In every "female complaint" and weakness, and in all nervous conditions, if it doesn't benefit or cure, the money will be returned.

MISS MAGGIE JACKSON, of Barbours, St. Landry Parish, La., says: "I was lying sick for some time with female complaints, and all the medicine my friends gave me did me no good. Death was approaching; all my friends had given me up to die. I heard of your wonderful medicine, and I bought two bottles of it, and before I had taken the last, I got entirely well. I am still enjoying good health, and expect to praise your medicine every where I go."
